ing could be further from the truth! These inspired artists efforts are Art-Intended, irregardless of whether or not they paint on a wall or a canvas."

In addition to the Documentary Screening, Mr. Bryan's presentation will encompass the discussion of:

- The Controversial Contemporary Graffiti Art Movement (Is it Art?)
- Hip-hop (pros and cons)
- Discussion on: Can Hip-hop can be taught in Schools?
- Hip-hop as a Multiple Intelligence Learning Model and Template
- The Creative Approach

"The GV Documentaries fresh Educational value and approach to communications is so high. There's an opportunity here to tap into the dynamic modalities of Hip-hop, to acknowledge the different learning styles, creative intelligence's, preoccupation, values and passions of our children. We can accomplish all this, while fulfilling the educational goals and objectives of our educational system. These educational goals can complement each other, and does not need to be mutually exclusive! In 2006, we cannot afford to fact ignore the fact that that Tupac was a superb natural poet, that Eminem has won an

Oscar, and that Hip-hop music has become the all-pervasive soundtrack for our lives here in the 21st Century." - Bob Bryan, Filmmaker and Author
