

01:01 TRIBE

"Going bombing
is kinda' like...
it's kinda'
adventurous,

I guess... It's like you're going on a mission to get spots and get away with it.

Sometimes you be climbing some places and you go whoa... if I fall, I'll die - y'know, but it gives you a rush!
It feels good."

01:18 DIMMER

"For people who don't understand how tagging and graffiti goes hand-in-hand. What it was, it was just like a progress. When you first got into it, or at least when I first got into it, you did allot of tagging, to get your name out there. Notoriety, amongst your friends. After that, you went in there to make your name more fancier because you wanted to make your name stand out a little more.
You started to make these bubble letters just to make it a little bit more and that's evolving.
From there you started working with your colors and going onto characters and it goes step-by-step. Tagging... to be just called a Tagger just limits who I am.

"I'm an Artist!"